

AMEE crossed the Rainbow Bridge
June 6, 2012 at age 17 years 2 months and 1 day

Amee arrived at her Furever home when she was 5 years old. Amos needed a friend, and the match worked out beautifully. Amos was shy, Amee was outgoing, so she always ran interference for him. She was the greeter at the dog park and ran up to everyone and said "I'm Amee. Would you like to pet me?" Of course, she wouldn't take NO for an answer! She was always happy and from the first her family didn't have to worry about losing her because she made sure she did not lose her mom! The first time they went down to the river, Amee went one way, and Amos went the other, and mom thought, "Oh no, who do I follow?" Amee had just arrived, but she found mom, and was better at keeping track of their mom than Amos was. A guy at Petco where she went for dog obedience called her "the dog who did everything right!" because she wanted to please her family. She certainly did enjoy the collie frolic even in her old age because she loved people and enjoyed life. She died at home peacefully.

Amee, you will be Furever Missed!
